Admissions FAQ

Knowledge Base Category: Admissions

Can registration guarantee a bed?

No. Registration and admission approval do not necessarily mean that an inpatient bed is immediately available.

Who decides whether admission is needed?

The responsible clinical team determines whether inpatient care is clinically indicated.

What if patient information is incorrect?

Notify authorized registration or medical-record staff so the information can be reviewed and corrected.

What should an attendant do after admission?

Follow receiving-ward instructions and keep relevant documents available.

Do emergency patients follow the routine admission process?

Emergency patients are assessed through emergency pathways first; administrative steps may follow as appropriate.
